THE DAILY MEMPHIS AVALANCHE.

By Gallaway, Rhea & Chiskey.] MEMPHIS, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 1, 1868. [Volume Ten—Number 307.

THE DAILY AVALANCHE.

Two Kentuckians waded the Mississippi the other day.

It is said that Dickens invested $10,000 in five-twenties last week.

Saints Maria, the Surratt informer, has sent in his bill for services. It has not yet been paid.

Disturbances are reported in Greenville, Demopolis and Camden, Alabama, and troops have been ordered to those points.

The first Parliament of the Province of Ontario opened Thursday evening. John Stevenson was chosen Speaker.

Senators Sumner and Pomeroy are building palaces in Washington. The latter pays $35,000 for his parlor furniture, bought in Paris.

Miss Fenian made an attempt to burn the general post-office in Dublin, Saturday, with Greek fire. But little damage was done.

Mrs. Ella Dove Rockwood, who lectured in Boston recently, promises to be a formidable rival of Anna Dickinson.

On Monday last the Merchants' Union Express company delivered in New York 500,000 pounds of dressed poultry and game.

The death is announced of General Sir Richard Llwellyn, K. C. B. He entered the army in 1800, and was seriously wounded at Waterloo.

A Boston maid advertises for a wife "for a man of means," and received nearly a thousand photographs in reply.

Mr. David Duke, a well known citizen, and formerly assessor of Panola county, was thrown from his horse and killed a few days ago.

The New York Mail says it is a fact beyond dispute that the New York public is disappointed in Dickens' readings.

The latest Cabinet rumor is to the effect that Secretary McCulloch is to exchange places with Charles Francis Adams, at present Minister to England.

From Mexico we learn that brigandage in the interior is greatly on the increase, and that there is much destitution among the poorer classes of the population.

Senator Sherman intends to urge his financial bill upon the early attention of the Senate, so as to give the country a certain basis for the resumption of business in the s ring.

The greatest storm for many years prevailed at San Francisco, a few days ago. The city suffered to a great extent. Most of the shipping in the harbor was damaged.

We learn from the Ohio Statesman that Judge Thurman, who once owned some $6,000 of United States bonds, has sold them all, and does not now hold a dollar invested that way.

A clerk named Robert Preston, in the employ of the Dorchester (Massachusetts) Mutual Insurance company, has disappeared with $6,000, in Government bonds, belonging to the company.

An angry husband at Omaha caused a blow up by putting powder into some of his wife's stove wood. She was not hurt, but everything that would cost money to replace, was smashed.

A correspondent says General Sheridan is unreserved in his expressions of sympathy with the Fenians, but he has a policy of his own for carrying out their views which they little dream of.

General Canby has issued an order for the Convention to meet in Charleston, South Carolina, on the 24th of January next. The total official returns give a little over 3,000 majority for the Convention.

A negro who raped a white girl on the public road near Louisville, Jefferson county, Georgia, on Saturday last, was arrested on Monday, tied to a stake, and burned by a mixed crowd of whites and blacks.

The Louisville Journal says: "President Lincoln, who was never a calumnious man, said of his friends at Washington that Pope was a good fighter, an inordinate eater, and a monstrous liar."

General Gregg has been relieved of the command of the district of Arizona, and ordered to assume command of military operations in Nevada. General Crittenden is named as his successor.

Mrs. Sarah McKinnie died in Crawford county, Georgia, recently at the advanced age of one hundred and seven years. Until within a few months before her death, she could walk four or five miles, and retained her mental faculties, to a great extent, to the last.

Within the last ten days only seven persons have mysteriously disappeared from the homes in Chicago—supposed to have met death from accident or violence. The number is so decided a decline from the usual average, that the reporters are quite discouraged.

The London Spectator, in a criticism on Henry Ward Beecher's novel, says: "He is guilty in a high degree of the besetting sin of popular preachers, who, more than any other class of educated men, delight in verbose utterances of commonplace thoughts."

In Washington the celebration of the eighth of January, by the Democracy, will be a grand affair. President Johnson and many other distinguished persons will be present. Invitations have been sent George H. Pendleton, Thurman, Voorhees, Seymour and others to attend.

Land owners in Montgomery, Williamson, Maury, and perhaps other counties in Tennessee, are renting land to tenants for 1868, at thirty-three and a third per cent. less than the price asked for the year now closing. A condition of some of the contracts is that no cotton is to be planted.

The negroes at Okolona and Verona, Mississippi failing to get the houses and lands of the white people, as they have been told by Manhoodites would be the case, are now banding together and arming themselves. The people in these places are afraid they may be burned out by the negroes.

It is reported that the recent numerous railroad disasters have induced the officers of the New York Central road to issue orders prohibiting trains from attempting to make up lost time by increasing their speed between stations. Every precaution is to be observed in order that other trains on the road may be notified when any one gets behind its time.

There was a pleasant interchange of courtesies between the British war vessel Chanticleer and the United States steamer Lackawanna, in the harbor of Honolulu, a few weeks ago. The Chanticleer's band entertained the Yankee tars with "Dixie" and the "Bonnie Blue Flag" for a while; and were replied to in the inspiring strains of the Penian melody, "Wearing o' the Green."

A telegram from Charlotte county, Virginia, says: "The freedmen have become tired of waiting for the distribution of farms, and now seek revenge by house burning, cattle slaying and other outrages. The counties of Amelia, Prince Edward, Lunenburg, Halifax, Mecklenberg and Pittsylvania are specially afflicted. Murder, arson and incendiarism are of nightly occurrence, and a war of races seems inevitable. The civil authorities are powerless to protect, and military posts are so remote that the whites have determined to defend themselves."

The Albany (Georgia) News thinks that General Hancock was precisely born to redeem the character of Yankee commanders from infamy, and the South from the thraldom of scalawag and negro supremacy.

General Howard thinks Congress will have to provide relief for the destitute at the South. A proposition is made to have a Government loan of twenty-five or twenty-six millions at six per cent. secured by a lien on property and crops. General Howard does not approve of this, but favors a distribution of food, the cost to be secured by a lien on crops.

A woman, named Libby Maxwell, went to the polls at Manchester (England,) and voted for Jacob Bright (brother of John.) Being a rate payer, her name was put on the register, and, being on the register, she could not be prevented from voting. So, attended by the presidentess of the Female Suffrage Society and a guard of honor, she went to the polls, amid abundant chaff and cheers, and voted for a member of Parliament.

A case is now pending before the United States Supreme Court which, it is thought, will elicit a decision on the question of the constitutionality of the United States legal tender act. The case comes from Oregon, whose statutes require payment of taxes collected by sheriffs to be made in coin to the several counties, by whom, in turn, they are paid into the State treasury. The sheriff in this case having paid the amount collected by him in currency to the county, alleges he has thereby made a valid tender.

It is said that Pius IX, by means of a bold stroke of policy, put an end to Napoleon's hesitations, and induced him to send his two divisions to Rome. He ordered the Papal Nuncio to leave Paris if the Emperor still refused to issue the order for the dismissal of the troops of the late Papal Civil Minister. Urged by the Empress, by the Archbishop of Paris, by nearly all his Ministers, the Emperor finally consented. No sooner had the order been issued, than Prince Napoleon induced him to change his mind once more, and a counter order was issued; but it reached Toulon an hour or two too late.

The examination of the war debt due the states from the Government shows that there is $500,000 yet due Ohio, and of this amount $400,000 will be paid. A million and a half is due Kentucky, of which about seventy-five per cent will be allowed. The whole sum advanced by States on the account was forty millions, and thirty one millions have been paid. There is yet due about nine millions, and the Government estimates that about five or six millions of this amount will be adjusted. The balance will be rejected.

Generals Grant and Howard are said to favor Government relief for the South. A gentleman from Charleston has presented a plan which has been indorsed by many prominent citizens, and has received the approval of General Canby so far as its general features are concerned. It provides for a loan of thirty millions of dollars, to be issued in small sums to planters and others in need, to bear six per cent. interest, both principal and interest payable in currency and secured by mortgage on the land and by a lien upon the crops. Grant indorses this proposition.

Lies About General Hancock.

A New Orleans correspondent of the New York Tribune writes a letter to that paper full of extraordinary statements, which the New Orleans Times pronounces false and impudent. The animus of the writer can be inferred from the following extracts:

"The General seems to have "struck oil." His conduct since his arrival here would seem to justify (the conclusion that he came to this city brimful of Democracy. Democracy is the only thing found a congenial element in Louisiana. His first Sabbath was spent in the Cathedral, where prayers were offered for the repose of the souls of the Confederate dead, and where many a rebel flag was "blessed" before having been borne by the "Louisiana Tigers" back to the front in the late rebellion. On the occasion of the return of Archbishop Odin from Rome, all the rebels of the city were in the streets, and the "Red, White and Blue" was seen waving over the heads of many not the Confederate flag, but a red ground bearing "the Confederate colors which Bishop Odin loves so well."

There was Beauregard, Hays, Adams, and other lights of the late Confederacy. There were thousands of the "Lost Cause" upon the streets. When it was played by one of the bands it was noteworthy to see how suddenly a flash of joy occupied the cheeks of the crowd. And there—with rebel flags, rebel Georgia, rebel soldiers, rebel men, rebel women, and rebel children around—stood the General—there, among all these, stood the General who confronted Beauregard and Longstreet" in many a battle—Major General Winfield S. Hancock, of the United States Army. The General was a noted character. All eyes were fixed on him. Their General."

Dinners, as well as other winning causes, have been resorted to for the purpose of captivating the General. One night last week, all the Confederate notabilities of Louisiana gathered around the festal board to do honor to their new Federal guest. Blood, who could not fight his army into Nashville, was quite successful in ushering in the company of braves who desired to pay their respects to the new district commander. Bragg never enjoyed champagne as he did when drinking the health of Hancock; and, as for Beauregard, he went into a fit of delight. Mrs. Hancock, who is spoken of as "a beautiful Southern lady," has not been forgotten. A company of the first ladies of New Orleans has been formed for the purpose of welcoming her to the city and inviting her to the social circle—an invitation not hitherto extended to any wife of a United States soldier in the South, since the war.

MISSISSIPPI ITEMS.

Mr. Drury Armstrong, of Cottonginport, died last Wednesday, aged sixty-five years.

Captain James F. Maury is about to become editor of the Port Gibson Standard.

A little negro girl was detected at Vicksburg in an attempt to fire the house of a Mr. Smarr. She had previously charged a white boy with the burning of the house of Mr. Sweet, back of the city.

A negro was arrested the other day, at Meridian who had escaped by jumping out of the court house window at Scooba, while under examination for larceny.

In view of the frequent incendiary fires at Vicksburg, and the fact that insurance companies have begun to cancel their policies in the city, an ordinance has been passed for enrolling all able bodied [male] residents into a "civic police."

The city council of Vicksburg, in enrolling "all the able bodied residents" of the city for patrol purposes, omitted not only the word "white," but also the word "male," whether purposely or not does not appear.

At Aberdeen, last Monday, Elijah Pierce, aged ored boy, twelve years old, was committed for trial on the evidence chiefly of negro children. He was quarreling with a boy, sticks being used, and seizing a gun from the hands of another negro child shot his antagonist dead.

In Amite county a freedman sued his employers, on a written contract for $150 wages. He was to give "good and faithful service," etc. It was proved that he had been idle, worthless, and not worth his victuals and clothes, which he got. The jury decided against him. His lawyer, the judge's son, moved for a new trial, which was refused. Then the Freedmen's Bureau captain took up the case, and ordered, in pare, the employers to pay the negro eighty dollars.

NASHVILLE.

Fratricide—Murderer Hung—State Aid to Railroads.

Special dispatch to the Louisville Courier.]

NASHVILLE, December 31, 6 p. m.

Two brothers, named Tom and Jerry Prior, living a few miles from Chattanooga, got into a row yesterday about some whisky, when the former seized a gun and shot Jerry, killing him instantly. The murderer fled, and has not been arrested.

The negro murderer, Hoff, was hung at Harrison yesterday.

The Nashville and Northwestern railroad and the Mississippi Central have each received $200,000 of the bonds recently appropriated by the Legislature.

The city council has decided to remove the dead from the city cemetery to Mount Olivet, situated about four miles from town. The close proximity of the old graveyard to the city renders the removal necessary.

Meeting in Utica—Rights of American Citizens Abroad.

Important Decision of Judge Clark.

Reduction of Employés in Ordnance and Navy Bureaus.

Disbursements by the Heads of Departments.

The Public Debt Statement.

NEW YORK, December 31.—A Herald Utica special says a large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Utica was held at the City Hall this evening, to take into consideration the rights of American citizens abroad. Mayor Wilson presided, with a large number of Vice Presidents. Strong speeches were made by Messrs. James M. Onde, Francis Kernan and others. The resolutions adopted were bold and spirited. One was to the effect that if the Executive and Congress fail to vindicate the rights of American citizenship they are cowardly and imbecile, and unworthy to administer the affairs of Government.

John Savage, in a card, says the mischievous reports in yesterday's evening papers relating to the selection of the new council of the Union Fenian Brotherhood, and the connection of his name with it, are entirely unfounded. They were doubtless originally calculated to throw obstacles in the way of the union so earnestly desired by all true lovers of human liberty.

The Mayor, by the Councilmen and Aldermen, for the purpose of enforcing the Mayor's grant license to saloon keepers, is for the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the Excise law. Judge Clerke, of the Supreme Court, at the general term in the case of the Bank of the Commonwealth vs. Jasper VanVleet et al., in which the bank appeals from the decision of lower courts, decided yesterday that gold and silver are not legal money of the country, but are merchantable commodities, and that promissory notes made payable in gold, must be paid in gold, or currency of equivalent value.

A Times' special says that over one hundred and thirty men have been discharged from employment in the Ordnance and Navy Yard Bureaus. Large numbers from other departments will also be discharged.

The number of general postoffices in New England reviewing their affairs is large. A number of postoffices throughout the country, in making a settlement of their accounts, discovered that the business of many offices had greatly increased, which, being satisfactorily shown to the Department, the salaries of the postmasters of such offices are to be increased. In other offices, where business has decreased, a corresponding reduction will be made in the salaries of postmasters.

Soon after it assembled the House called upon the heads of the different departments for statements of the amount disbursed by them under an act of Congress giving the employes of the Government 15 Washington twenty per cent. compensation. The following statements are received: Treasury Department, $947,304; War Department, $345,408; Navy Department, $47,015; Postoffice Department, $3,000; Department of Agriculture, $20,708. The State and Interior Departments, and the Attorney General have not yet reported.

A Tribune special says the statement of the public debt will be published Tuesday, January 7. It is thought there will be about $80,000,000 in gold on hand at the beginning of the new year; and on March 1st there will be $60,000,000 to meet the interest on the public debt, the principal of the bonds of '67 maturing on the first proximo, twenty-four years' bonds of '67, semi-annual interest on the bonds of '64, and semi-annual interest on the five-twenty bonds.

By order of the Secretary of the Navy, the salaries of all mechanics in the navy yard here will be reduced thirty-five per cent. after the first of January next. They will accept this modification.

WASHINGTON, 31 a.m., December 31.—It is reported that Charles S. Whitemore, Treasurer of the town of Sumpter, has been guilty of defalcation to the amount of $70,000. Whitemore has been missing about two weeks.

NEW YORK, December 31, 11 a.m.—Gold opened at 133¾; at 70:20 a.m. was 133¾; at 10:50 a.m. was 133¾, and is now 133¾. Holders of cotton ask an advance, but buyers operate with caution. Exchange steady.

ALABAMA ITEMS.

Thomas Diggs, a colored member of the Convention, drives a carriage for a citizen of Eufaula.

Four negro prisoners at Eufaula, last week, escaped from the guard house by making a rush on the City Marshal.

A Conservative Club has been organized at Prattville, comprising many persons who have acted prominently with the Radicals.

A meeting is to be held at Huntsville, January 6, for the organization of "all who, for whatever cause, will vote against the ratification of the Constitution prepared by the State Convention." The call has 270 signatures.

The police of Eufaula discovered, some time since, the existence of an organized band of negro thieves, and that they had false keys to the store of Elray Brothers. This store was therefore made a trap, and Tuesday night four of the gang were caught robbing it. One of them is President of a "benevolent society," and another is President of the "Young Men's Strong Association."

Mr. A. J. Cooper publishes the following card in the Opelika Recorder: "My name having appeared in the list of names sent to Congress by the Convention for the removal of political disabilities, I take occasion to say that the same was done without my approval, consent or knowledge, and that I do not affiliate or sympathize with the Convention, nor can I support the Constitution it has framed. In supporting John C. Headers for the Convention, I was actuated by motives of a personal nature, and my confidence in his patriotism. This confidence he has still further deserved by his manly protest against the work of that Convention.

A Millionaire's Will.

Thomas Garner, the New York millionaire, who died recently, has, besides the numerous bequests to charitable institutions in New York, bequeathed to his daughter, Josephine A. Graham, seven thousand dollars per annum; to his daughter, Frances A. Lawrence, his farm and country seat at Islip, Long Island, together with the personal property and furniture belonging to the same, and one million of dollars; to his son Thomas one million of dollars; to his daughter, Anna James, his house, No. 4 Washington Square, besides the personal property belonging to the same, including carriages, horses, silver and plate, furniture, bedding and books, and one million dollars.

Is he the same old granny that presided over the meeting that nominated Vod Thief as well as Postage Stamp Thief Beecher for Mayor? Please answer.

Yes, I is the same old fungus. Has our correspondent been over to Arkansas lately?

A SHAME.—The body of the negro who was killed while attempting to steal Jo Pat Dickering on Saturday last, is still lying where he was shot. Coroner Cotton has been out of town since Friday last, and the magistrates refuse to hold an inquest on the body for the reason that such labor in that line as they have heretofore performed has not been paid for by the present County Commissioners, who have not only refused to pay such indebtedness, but have openly impugned the motives of the magistrates who have heretofore performed like services. Some one is to blame in this matter, which is a disgrace to society and to the age.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Edwin Booth opens at the New Memphis on Monday next. The sale of tickets for the season will commence to-day.

Mr. Sam. A. Lewis, general passenger agent of the Atlantic and Great Western road stationed in this city, is at present sojourning in New Orleans.

Ex-Governor Isham G. Harris returned to this city on Monday night, and is at his quarters at the Gayoso House.

Major Thomas F. Henry, of Clarksville, Tennessee, formerly of General Cheatham's staff, is also at the Gayoso.

Colonel David C. Cross, of Arkansas, is at the Gayoso House.

MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—This body, appointed by the convention on Monday night, met yesterday, according to announcement, at the office of Mr. Monsarrat, at ten o'clock, when Mr. R. D. Baugh was elected chairman, and Mr. J. M. Keating Secretary. It was decided to hold a mass meeting at Greenlaw Opera House to-night at eight o'clock, and the committees of each ward to solicitation, through the press and by handbills, of an address to the Conservative voters of the city, explanatory of their rights at the polls and of the unconstitutionality of Governor Brownlow's proclamation relative to the issuance of certificates of election on and after the 20th of December instant. The committee will remain in session during the day of election, at Cockrill & Monsarrat's office. A finance committee, composed of Frazier Smith, J. J. Wonham and R. D. Baugh, was appointed, and the committee will meet again to day, at eleven o'clock, at the same place.

THE SNOW.—By far the heaviest fall of snow which has occurred here within thirty years, now covers the ground. It commenced snowing on Monday morning, and up to the present time it has continued with scarcely any intermission, until now, when about seven inches may be found on a dead level. Every species of vehicle that could be made to go on runners, was yesterday impressed into service, and from morning until far away in the night, the unwonted sound of the jingling of sleigh bells was heard in our streets. All the boys were out in the glory, and snowballing was a the rage yesterday, and it seemed to us as if I, were indulged in to a serious extent by almost all. In front of the Greenlaw Opera House, a continual bombardment of snowballs was going on, and it seemed as if almost all the habitues of the Opera had turned out for a general frolic All over the city Africa was most unmercifully pelted by mischievous boys, and for the most part took it pleasantly. During the day several arrests were made by the police, but we suppose they will all be turned loose this morning, as we are certain malice did not enter into any of the snow balling freaks of yesterday.

A Pleasant Affair.

ROSEVILLE, FAYETTE COUNTY, TENN., December 30.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: Your correspondent had the pleasure of attending one of the grandest balls of the season given on the evening of the 27th December, by the good citizens of Worth Rosin Plantation, Mississippi. I have not words to do manch alluster, flattering and beauty since the good old days of yore. There was quite a large attendance, and everything went off as "merry as a marriage bell." The music was splendid, and the many participants of the dance went in heart and hand, and both old and young seemed to be enjoying themselves. The ladies were dressed in the latest party style, and looked very bewitching—especially the Misses Pool, of Early Grove; Miss Thompson, Miss House, Miss Craddock, Miss McElroy, Miss Knox, Mrs. Freer, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Brooks—and last, was little Miss Sallie Benton, the belle of the evening. Her dancing is decidedly elegant and graceful. The splendid supper, superintended by Mrs. Clare, Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Emily Smith, Mrs. Dr. Webb, Mrs. Gossett, gives evidence that they were the right people in the right place, and deserve great credit. Also, Mr. Cood, Dr. Webb, Mr. Clare, Dr. Bankhead, Dr. Schoffner, with smiling faces and kindly greeting, deserves much praise for the general arrangements of everything, and the night of the 27th will long be remembered and ever be a green spot in the memory of your friend and well wisher.

Long may you wave. T.

TIFICATION.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN THE FIRST WARD.

Ratification of the Convention Nominations.

Speeches by Dr. Leftwich, Colonel Sam. Walker, Sheriff Winters, [illegible]

They All Stand Firm and Square on the Democratic Platform.

Enthusiasm of the People—They are Determined to Win.

Last night about seven o'clock one of the largest Democratic meetings which has ever taken place in the First ward assembled at the engine house for the purpose of ratifying the nominations made by the late Democratic convention, and of hearing the candidates express their views upon the questions at issue. Several days the convention which nominated the Hon. John W. Leftwich, we have never attended a meeting more unanimous in its expressions of devotion to principle and to the candidates who will bear those principles aloft, as the oriflamme which will guide the Democratic masses to victory.

Ex-Mayor Baugh was called to the chair, and he briefly stated the object of the meeting to be to indorse the nominations made and to hear Mr. Leftwich and the other candidates upon the ticket express their views upon the present political affairs, and conclude by introducing to the meeting the Hon. John W. Leftwich, who said:

MY FRIENDS: We must been to-night, and there is but one more night between now and the election. I cannot make much of a speech, now, if I had labored, as you desire me to, I am your candidate for Mayor and because I wanted the position, but because you wanted me to represent you in the great contest which is now going on in Memphis—the most important which has ever passed before you for action—and that is whether there is in Memphis a party which will not acknowledge its inferiority to the negro. [There is where it is.] Gentlemen, Radicals never may, this is the great question; and whether that shall go out to the country or not, is to be decided on Thursday. In the canvass I am opposed by two Radicals. One of them is represented to me as a little better than the other, but both of them have taken sides with the ignorant negro against one of their own race. I have no choice, One of them I have known for years, and I know that he believes that a negro is as good as a white man. The other one I look upon as likely to be as bad as he is represented to be, but both of the tickets and in the public meetings that I was in the First ward that I saw in the Radical party, [Loud applause.] My friends, I do not intend to make a speech, and it is not worth while to tell you how to vote, for I know you are all going to do as I am going to do, to vote and work for Leftwich. [Loud applause.] Let the mo to on our banner be "Democracy and Constitutional Liberty," and let us be united whether victorious or defeated—whether we poll one vote or one thousand. But I know if we can bring our forces into the field to vote, we will be successful; if we go to the polls and vote, and see that our friends and neighbors do likewise, we can elect Leftwich. Will you do it? [Cries of "Yes, yes."] Let us go together and cast off this Brownlow rule, forward, which this will be the first step. We must work; we have but one day, but, great God, how much work we can do in that one day, if we but try. I have known Leftwich for near thirty years, but I am not voting particularly for him. I am voting for myself, my children, and for futurity. Personally I would sooner vote for him than any man I know of; but, nevertheless, the principles he does, I consider it a sacred duty to vote and work for him.

After the conclusion of Colonel Sam. Walker's remarks, loud calls were made for Sheriff Winters, who came forward and said:

FELLOW CITIZENS: I never made a speech in my life; but I am going to vote the Democratic ticket straight and square. [Loud cheers.] Let me explain my position in regard to Fitch. I took the advice of leading Conservatives in regard to the nomination of Mr. Lacey, and Major Rhea, of the AVALANCHE will bear me out in it, and the general opinion was that the nomination of Mr. Lacey, in the divided condition of the party, could only result in the election of Beecher. I think there were thirty one merchants of Memphis—all Conservatives but two—who represented $ 6,00 ,00 of property, met in the city, I think Colonel Gallaway of their meeting, and he advised me to stand and see what would come of it. This meeting was of the opinion that there was no chance to beat Beecher but to center on Fitch, and I taking into consideration the interest of the poor men of the city, equally with the rich, who would be at ruined in the event of Beecher's election, was of the opinion that Fitch was the lesser evil, and that he should be used to defeat Beecher. When I saw there thirty-one merchants, representing such an amount of money, concede and insist that Fitch was the man, I felt constrained to bow to their decision, and give in an unwilling submission to their wishes. I told Mr. Lacey himself, that if Beecher and Fitch both ran, he stood a good chance of being elected. I went for Fitch for the benefit of the city, and because one-half of the Democrats of Memphis did not consider Lacey as the nominee of the Convention. I have never deserted a Democratic ticket, and have never spoken to them with a double tongue. [A voice—That's so, sir!] Now that the great white heart of Memphis is beating in unison with the glorious Democracy of the land, and now that we have a nominee for Mayor on whom all can center, I tell them that it is to their interest, and to the interest of the city, to go and vote and work for him, as they never worked or man before, until the close of the polls on Thursday night.

When Sheriff Winters concluded, Major Rhea, of the AVALANCHE, was brought to his feet by repeated calls, and said: My friends, Sheriff Winters has fully explained the position of matters in regard to Mr. Fitch. It is a merely one of expediency, as, when the Lacy ticket was nominated, the party was split up and weak. Now the party had united upon a gentleman every way worthy to be our standard bearer, and one whose nomination gave universal satisfaction, and the question that gave rise to this question of expediency had ceased to have any force and weight, and it was now the duty of every Democrat to put his shoulders to the work, and not to cease until our nominee was elected, on Thursday next.

Major Rhea was followed by Mr. Harper and ex-Mayor Winchester, who spoke in a few terse sentences forcibly, after which the meeting adjourned, with three cheers for John W. Leftwich.

CONSERVATIVES' RALLY.

Mass Meeting at Greenlaw Opera House.

A grand Mass Meeting of the Conservative party will be held this evening, commencing at seven o'clock. All friends of the Conservative party and members are invited to be present. Hon. Elbert Fort, Hon. R. K. Yerger, Hon. George Gantt, Hon. Lemuel C. Shannon and Hon. J. W. Leftwich will be among the speakers on the occasion.

By order of City Executive Committee.

R. D. BAUGH, Chairman.
J. M. KEATING, Secretary.

Card.

It appears from the Governor's Proclamation, published in your paper of yesterday, that "for good and sufficient reasons" he has announced me from the office of Commissioner of Registration for Shelby county. Now, if my refusal to submit to my name as a candidate for the convention, that passed Mr. Brownlow and other city officers are "good and sufficient reasons," I have nothing to say. Or, if my present registration was likely to endanger the success of said constitutions, I am also silent, and if such is the character of the charges against me, I will not resent the insults to which I am subjected, as I believe charges of official corruption were made. I pronounce such charges wantonly and maliciously false, and I challenge and defy the parties making them to their proof.

I was not consulted or asked to submit my claims to that convention. I was not present, and of our very few friends present for me. I do not know who got up a nomination or voted for me—I have no doubt, however, that they were friends, and, at such, have my sincere thanks.

The nomination was tendered me for a certain consideration by a number of colored men, whose letter on the subject can be produced, and I therefore was not at liberty to withdraw. I did so at a week before the sitting of the Convention, which I can prove. I was clearly, questioned last Sunday one week ago, in relation to the probable relative strength of the white and black voters of this city. I gave it as my opinion that the blacks had the majority then, but that if no registration continued as it was then going on, that by the first of January the whites would have a majority. This was done for the reason for annulling all certificates issued by me after the 20th. The office is not worth contending for, but having some feeling in this matter I cannot refrain from saying that the perversion to which the instrument he has signed to do, I shall still claim to be a voter of this county, and further claim that the judges and clerks appointed by me are the only ones who can legally hold the ensuing municipal election.

J. D. DAVIS.

THE ORPHEANS' FAIR.—The best attendance since the opening was present last night, everything was done by those interested in the management of the fair, to make it a most successful night. At the table of Mrs. Canavan was added an additional attraction, in the shape of a most beautiful bridal presentation, embroidered in such a manner as to surpass our powers of description in that line. It was presented to the table by the sisters of St. Agnes Academy. At Miss Walsh's table, the quiz for the most popular little Miss—not lady, as we stated yesterday, made a feature, and at the present, little Mollie Costillo is ahead. In the opera cloak, at this table, the chances are nearly all taken, and it will be disposed of to-night. The cane for the lady man of the fair, is a great feature, and the vote stands, Count Waldron, three; Captain Wm. Hall, four; S. O. Sinnott, five; James P. Gallagher, fifteen; M. P. Maine, seventeen; Thomas F. Tobin, one; and Jesse G. Leasdale, one. For the railway superintendent's watch, Mr. Jones, of the Memphis and Ohio railroad, is ahead twenty-six votes. Mrs. Canavan will dispose of a silver tea set of six pieces, by raffle to-night. Miss Nan Taylor has a bee tiful Grover & Baker sewing machine for raffle, at two dollars per chance. It is a complete affair, and is as much of an ornament as it is useful. On the vote for the pipe, Captain Simonds, 25; Captain Garrett, 25. The voting closes on Saturday night. On the Derringer, Miss Ina Hunter, Miss Nan Taylor and Miss Lizzie, to-night. At St. Patrick's table we notice a pair of beautiful vases, in blue, which would ornament the finest parlor in the land. Here, also, is the water pitcher and goblet, for the most popular member of the St. Patrick's Society. We are glad to hear that this table is most successful, and deserves to, for night and day administrators work hard for it. At the table of Mrs. Burk and Quinlan the punch bowl was disposed of last night, and the "talma" and dressing gown is creating much interest. To-night, beyond doubt, will be a gala night, and the hall will be crowded.

SCHOOL VISITOR.—Mr. Sidney Cook is a candidate for re-election to the office of School Visitor for the Seventh Ward. During the last term Mr. Cook made an able and efficient officer, and we feel assured that the citizens of the ward are not now willing to deprive themselves of so competent and efficient an officer.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: I understand from my friends that there is a report in circulation that I am running as a candidate for County Commissioner, not to be elected, but to be bought off by my last and opponent just in time to secure election. I denounce such a report as false, and its author as a contemptible liar. I am running on my own hook, and I will use every effort to secure my own election, and will be in the field as a candidate until the polls close.

JAMES FORD.

No. 84 Court street is the place to board at, if you want to live well. 2t

PIANO TUNING.—Mr. Thos. G. Polasell is undoubtedly one of the best, if not the best, tuner and repairer of pianos we have ever met, and wonderfully reasonable in his charges. Leave orders at Wm. Hall & Son's, Winkler, H. A. Sabersky. He may always be found at Kaltenbach's music store, 35 Main street.

Take New Year's dinner at 84 Court street, and see how you like the fare. 2t

Mrs. M. A. Knox has removed her residence to No. 80 Adams street, and will resume her school on Thursday January 2.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: It has been currently reported that I have withdrawn my name from the canvass as a candidate for Alderman of the Fifth ward. I am, that I am still in the field, and will continue to be until the night of the election, January 2d, 1868.

M. B. REILLY.

Begin the New Year by boarding at 84 Court street. Best table in the city. 2t

DIAMONDS, WATCHES AND SILVERWARE.—The sale of goods for account of Mont. Hyams & Co. will be continued this morning, at ten o'clock. Those of our friends desirous of obtaining bargains should attend the sale, at the auction rooms of W. H. Passmore & Co., No. 160 Second street.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: An article appeared in yesterday evening's Ledger, purporting to come from me, stating that I had withdrawn from the field as a candidate for Alderman of the Fifth ward. The article in question was not written, nor was it authorized by me, and I hereby denounce its author as a forger. It is a simple invention of the enemy to defeat me, and I hope my friends will not be influenced by said article. I am still candidate for the position, and will continue to do so until the polls close.

Yours respectfully,
MICHAEL BURKE.

A RIOT SUNDAY.

Hunter on the Stump for Beecher—He is Ordered to Go Home by a Negro.

A few nights since, at Centenary chapel, the manuscript made its bow before a colored audience, as the indenser, friend and penny of Beecher, who came into town to do the electing of the castigation in store for him at supper time, and so got the necessity, late of Mound City, to appear for him. The meeting was called to order, and Fitch proposed to talk against the whole party if they would allow him to close. The nonsense finally was put down, and proceeded thusly:

Fellow citizens and brethren (much applause): I appear tonight in defense of a man who has been much abused, Dr. Beecher. (A voice—What has he stolen now?) He is the nominee of the Radical party (that's a lie!) for Mayor. It is to all our interests to have him elected, for he is my friend and the friend of all the colored people (a voice—"Yes, he stole the peepers' provisions" and he will conduct the business of the city so that we will all be better off—

Just here considerable of a row occurred, but no blows were passed in the body of the church. One nigger was caught napping, but saved his bacon by quickly lifting into the middle of the street. The gentleman's argument was then continued by Bob Warshow approaching the rostrum and thusly saying:

"Hunter, you're no business here; you're a good man in the Criminal Court, but you're no business here; go home."

This almost willed it, but it managed to say a few words more, and concluded, and sneaked out of the back door, not wishing or ever in pursuit of any of Fitch, who was all around looking for him, and who had threatened to "lick" him. Hunter, when he denounced to his face as a "lying scoundrel" in the matter of an affidavit he had made in regard to some whisky transaction during the war. Go it, Fitch; go to Beecher.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Another year! We must date out letters 1868. We start upon the grand circle to-day. What is to intervene before the annual return of this birthday, may not be vouchsafed us, and conjecture shrinks from the task. Though we may not look into the future, we have it in our power to view the past; and although none, or at least few, would like the recurrence of just such another year, they can draw inferences from the past for future guidance and improvement.

The past year has been particularly hard upon the steamboat interest, and the present prospect is not the most flattering. The long continued low water compelled many boats to withdraw from their several trades, and "tie up" for a protracted season. Now that the rivers are again navigable, there is still a lack of business, and there are not more than half as many boats in commission as there were at the beginning of the year. Yet there are not enough to offer inducements for regular trades. Steamboat employes do not receive any thing like the wages they had last year, and employment is not precarious. Those upon whom devolves the drudgery must be content wi h the mere means of living, or look farther afield for work. The scarcity of freights arises from the large stocks of grain kept by the North, extent regardless South, and the scarcity of money every where.

There were many disasters during the past year, entailing much loss upon individual owners as well as underwriters. Let us hope that a repetition of these may not occur as a class. In the misfortunes that prun ted others, many planters are impoverished, and our merchants without the facilities to aid them. We have heretofore advocated the policy of the present Government, through its Military Governors, compelling the freedmen who have no employment to labor on the Mississippi levees, and thereby, while earning the means of support for themselves and their families, remedy the injury they were instrumental in inflicting, and at the same time be kept out of mischief, and from those depredations that are despoiling the plantations of their entire live stock. By throwing this work upon the levees, many fine fields of cotton would be planted, and much good done by the first of industry. In this way the revenues derived from agriculture and planting would be enhanced. As an act of war, the levees were cut in many places, and were never replaced. Those living along the river, deprived of their former labor system, through the same application of power, are now in a condition to make it a necessity. Well, if we will but sheer justice to make it a national work, especially as it would give employment and food to a miserable race of vagabonds, who are stealing and plundering, to the greater impoverishment of the white people, to keep themselves from starving, if they are not governed by other salutary measures than they have hereof on the dark side of the picture, only, and that it has also a bright side. Let our river friends not be cast down. They should endeavor to do all in their power to sustain the river interest, and lose none of their energies. Better times may not be far off. The stupid policy of Secretary McCulloch may be relaxed, and stranded by more free than under the rigid rule in which he has so long persevered to the detriment of every interest save of the bondholders, who are safe under the ægis of his protection.

We send to all the greetings of the season, and wish all our river friends of every degree a happy new year. Let us prosper as we can, and always keep good spirits safety. We cannot speak of our own experience through the Christmas, for "Santa Claus" couldn't find us, but we hope for better success time.

If the snow goes off with a rain, we will have a young flood in Tennessee and Arkansas rivers.

The Irish.

From the Wilmington (North Carolina) Journal.

Mr. Sherewode, of Mr. Bingham's district, Ohio, who is known only by his unsuccessful efforts in the "Sinking Fund" of Mrs. Surratt, has said that the negroes are as well qualified to vote as those who have been brought up at the tail of a wheelbarrow—meaning by many, although the Irish will be become very popular to repeal the slander by the apologists of negro suffrage, even in the South. It can only be believed by the ignorant and repeated by the depraved.

The Loved We Love, in the last issue, thus refers to Mr. Bingham's comparison of the Irish and African races:

Does he know that Wellington, the greatest soldier of Great Britain, was of Irish man? That the sweetest poet of the English language was Moore, an Irishman? That, according to Walter Scott, the most vigorous writer of pure idiomatic English was Swift, an Irishman? That the greatest British statesman was Burke, an Irishman? Does he know that Byron said of Sheridan, the Irishman, "He has written the best comedy, the best farce, the best address in the English tongue, and, to crown all, he has delivered the very best oration ever conceived of or heard of in any country?" It may be some remake to Mr. Bingham's Radical impudence to tell him that the profoundest sensation ever made in the British Parliament was caused by the speeches of these two Irishmen, Burke and Sheridan, during the trial of Warren Hastings. The great Hammer Hastings had just brought to a successful conclusion the conquest of India. He had swept over that unhappy region in the style most popular even in the sixteenth century, stealing, plundering, busting and murdering. Like a modern hero, he endeared war to the heart of the conquering nation by making war support itself, and by furnishing dainty material for illustrated pictorials of the suffering and humiliation of the conquered people. He was, therefore, feasted and honored, and was the Most Noble Apostle, by almost feat of the British populace. But in the very hour of his triumph and his popularity, these two generous Irishmen had the heart to sympathize with the wronged and oppressed; still better, they had the courage to denounce the demi-god, and bring him to trial. It was the Roman speech of Sheridan, delivered on the occasion of the impeachment, which Byron pronounced to be the master effort of British oratory.

Will it be worth while to tell Radical stupidity of those world-renowned Irish words, Goldsmith, Steel, and Goldsmith? Of Shee, the Irish poet and painter, President of the Royal Academy? Of the great Oriental scholar, Shee, the Irishman? Of a long line of eminent orators, barristers, statesmen and jurists, Curran, Grattan and Lord Plunkett, Sourin, O'Connell, Shiel, etc., etc.? Has this Radical ignoramus ever heard of poor Emmet? If not, we refer him to the school books. Has he ever heard of Usher, Shiels, Archbishop Usher—all Irishmen, and the latter the author of a chronology of the Bible? Does he know that the great French philosophes said of Robert Boyle, the Irishman, "Without Robert Boyle we would know nothing?" Does he know that one of the most eminent of the British Surgeons was Abernethy the Irishman? Does he know that the first Commodore in the American Navy was John Barry, the Irishman, whom the English tried to bribe with $50,000 in money and the Captaincy of an English frigate?

In our section, we will not be so ungrateful as the honorable gentleman, and will ever honor your Mitchel—noble son of a noble sire! who gave his life for the defense of Fort Sumter, and fresh will we ever keep the memory of that peerless soldier and noble Irish gentleman, Patrick R. Cleburne.

If the honorable gentleman can mention a single name among the decendants from Guinea, Congo, and Ashantee, which will bear comparison with any one of those given above, then we will believe that Radical ignorance is not so great as Radical wickedness.

The Latest Expression, from Stroll.

"Mack" in his letter of the 23d instant, says:

A gentleman by the name of Rogers called on General Grant yesterday, and in the course of conversation asked him what he he thought of Hancock's New Orleans order. The General paused, and gravely looking for vacancy for a moment, and replied: "Well, Rogers, if I go to Europe next summer you may take that black horse of mine, and we'll him while I'm gone. He's first-rate under the saddle, and trots good to a buggy. I'll allow him to let you have him whenever you want him."

"Thank you, General, thank you," said the obliged but still inquisitive Rogers. "But I think that was a question, don't you?"

"You'll find a good Mexican saddle in the stable," was the General's response.

Rogers gave it up in disgust.
